Sandoz also distributes branded generics that require promotional activities at the physician level. Like our other generics, some of our specialty products are created based on a brand name reference drugs while others are original molecule formulations. With its specialty division, Sandoz brings to the Canadian market innovative and differentiated products to improve people's lives.

Our current product portfolio includes ophthalmic and immunosuppressant, which is consistent with our differentiation strategy.

Stay tuned as we continue to grow our division's portfolio and pioneer novel approaches to help Canadians access high-quality medicine!
